

MOLTKE'S OFFICERS LEFT AT NAPLES

Refused to Sign Agreement Not to Join Seamen's Union.

The trouble between the Hamburg-American Steamship Company and its men over the question of membership in a labor union resulted in the resignation of all the junior navigating officers of the steamer Moltke just before she sailed from Naples. It was learned when the steamer arrived here today that the officers had refused to sign an agreement to the effect that they would not become affiliated with the seamen's organization. This they refused to do. Instead they left the Moltke and returned to Hamburg.

KENNEDY MAY BE IN PHILADELPHIA.

Wife of Missing Theatrical Manager Hurries to Quaker City After Telephone Message.

Mrs. Elizabeth Kennedy, wife of Peter J. Kennedy, the theatrical manager who disappeared three weeks ago after writing his wife that he intended to commit suicide, went to Philadelphia last night, having received word by telephone from a woman she did not know that her husband was in a hospital there.

Mrs. Kennedy, who is living at the Hotel Harrington, 210 West Broadway, called up Police Headquarters and asked if word had been received from Philadelphia of her missing husband. The police knew nothing of the matter, but immediately got in communication with the Quaker City authorities.

Explained by Anty Drudge

Little Miss Rampabout—Just look, mamma, I tore my frock!
Mother—"Good gracious, and that frock just new! Only washed twice!"
Anty Drudge—"Just those two washings made the tear possible. You boiled the frock, as you do all your clothes, and that softened and weakened its fibre. If you had used Fels-Naptha in cold or lukewarm water, the fabric would not be half rotten and ready to give way the first time it caught in anything."

White clothes are made of vegetable fibres, cotton or flax. Boiling affects them the same way it does other vegetable matter, as potatoes or cabbage. It softens them and weakens the fibre. Boiling will soften even hard wood.

By this you can easily see how your clothes will wear out quicker and tear more easily if you boil and hard-rub them. Wool, which is an animal fibre, is softened just as the fibre of meat in boiling. Fels-Naptha will cleanse your clothes in cold or lukewarm water without any boiling or hard rubbing, and there isn't a single thing in it that will harm the goods.

Your clothes will wear twice as long, and they'll be whiter and cleaner all the time. Try a cake of Fels-Naptha and see. But use it the Fels-Naptha way, according to the simple directions on the red and green wrapper. They'll tell you how to wash all kinds of clothes with Fels-Naptha: wash dishes, clean floors and do many other things with it.

STATEN ISLAND IN ANOTHER HOLD-UP

Short-Cut Bridge Closed and Passengers Forced to Go Long Way to Ferry.

Staten Island commuters had here trouble to-day. This time the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, otherwise the Staten Island Rapid Transit Company, was partly the cause, but the commuters were especially angry because they were caught between the upper millstone of the city and lower millstone of the railroad.

The long wooden bridge that leads from the Municipal Ferry-House at St. George to a point on Jay street was closed today, and was guarded at both ends by police men. A sign in a hurry placed with the police to let them pass, but there was no sign that would work.

The bridge is a short and direct way to the ferry with the island. It is a three-fourths of a mile longer, but it is a much better road. The bridge was built by the railroad when it was the ferry. On the sale of the ferry part of the bridge became the property of the city. Now the main point of dispute is whether the part of the bridge that needs repairs is owned by the city or the railroad. Yesterday the signs were torn down and the crowds passed over the bridge as usual. As a last resort, Capt. Gallagher, of the West Brighton station, was asked by the road to supply half a dozen policemen to guard the way. There were meetings of protest in the City-House and on the boats bound for Manhattan. Most of the men thought this was a slap by the road at the Anti-Nuisance League that caused the arrest of Superintendent P. H. Cassidy for allowing freight trains to be run on Sunday. Yesterday Mr. Cassidy's case was dismissed by the Grand Jury, and the commuters think it significant the bridge should be shut to-day.

SLAVED FOR GIRL WHO WED RIVAL

Sailor Tries to Demolish Furniture of Man Who Married His Fiancee.

For a long time George Aviner, able seaman of the U. S. N. was engaged to marry Mary McDonald, who lived in the Dutch Kills section of Long Island City. He was a sailor, and he sailed, and saved his money, and it was agreed that they were to be married at the close of his cruise that ended four days ago.

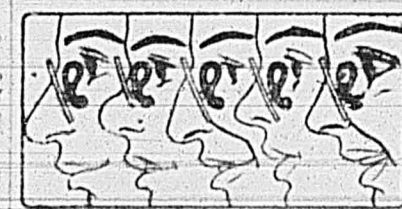

He did not call upon his fiancee immediately upon his arrival in New York. Instead he rented and furnished a little home in West Eighth street, Bayonne. Yesterday afternoon he landed at Dutch Kills with a big roll of bills in his pocket, intending to marry Mary and take her at once to the Bayonne home.

Mary was not at home. Her people were waiting for him. He was suspicious. He organized himself into an investigating committee and located Mary at No. 34 West 23d street, the wife of John McAnany. While George was away sailing the seas McAnany had wooed and won Mary.

The sailor was wild when he learned the truth. He sailed into the McAnany home and rapidly demolished anything that was in his way. He drank at the corner saloon, George and McAnany went to the saloon, where McAnany went to the saloon, where

NAPOLÉON'S GOD-DAUGHTER IS DEAD.

The Dowager Countess de la Peyrouse de Bouffels died here to-day. She was a daughter of Gen. Charles Tristan de Montholon, who was a companion of Napoleon at St. Helena, and a god-daughter herself of Napoleon. She was born at St. Helena ninety-one years ago.
